Art Unit: 1625

DETAILED ACTION

1. This application is a 371 of PCT/JP02/08809. A claim to the priority benefit was made on Feb. 27, 2004. The priority benefit has not been granted since neither the priority document nor the certified translation was of record.

2. Applicant's election without traverse of group II, A is S compound of claim 10 in the reply filed on Oct. 13, 2006 is acknowledged.

Claims 1-3, 5, 8, 10, 20-22, 24, 26 reading A is S, V-W is double bond are prosecuted. The remaining subject matter and claims 4, 6-7, 9, 11-19, 23, 25 are withdrawn from consideration per 37 CFR 1.142(b).

3. Claims 20-22, 24, 26 when A is S, V-W is double bond are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-12 of copending Application No. 10/911,633 in view of WO 99/37296 (see p.8) supplemented with Vega-Hernandez et al. or Sutton et al.

Determination of the scope of the copending claims

The copending claims are drawn to the identical compound in a composition together with gabapentin or pregabalin.

Ascertainment of the difference between the copending claims the instant claims

The instant claims are drawn to the identical compound which render the composition of such therapeutic compound an obvious variation of the compounds, and its combination together with gabapentin or pregabalin. The instant claimed/elected compound is a N-type calcium channel antagonist for treating pain i.e. see claims 11-19 and specification p.130. Gabapentin or pregabalin are known compounds for treating pain for which the mechanism has been evidenced to be through the N-type calcium channel see Vega-hernandez or Sutton.

Finding of prima facie obviousness—rational and motivation

It is prima facie obvious to combine two compositions each of which is taught to be useful for the same purpose in order to form third composition that is to be used for the very same purpose because idea of combining them flow logically from their having individually taught for the very same use and requires no more than mixing them together in the same excipient. Especially, both active ingredients are expected to participate in the same mechanism, thus, same type of pain. In re Kerkhoven 205 USPQ 1069; Ex parte Quadranti 25 USPQ2d 1071; Ex parte the Nutrasweet Co. 19 USPQ2d 1586.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection.

Art Unit: 1625

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Even though the 10/911,633 has a later filing date, the law requires that the two commonly owned patents which are obvious variation of each other, be bind to prevent possible multiple harassment.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

4. Claims 1-3, 5, 8, 10 are objected to as containing the nonelected compounds but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form limiting to the scope of claim 8 when A is S including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
